World Market Leader in Explosion Protection.

There are working situations in which sparks should never be allowed to fly! For these situations the explosion protection specialists at the BARTEC Group develop innovative products and solutions. The reason: wherever hazardous substances such as flammable gases, vapors, mists or dusts can occur the component and system solutions developed by BARTEC prevent explosions and ensure the safety of both people and the environment.

The main customers of the global corporate group include the oil and gas industry as well as chemical, petrochemical and pharmaceutical companies from all around the world. The comprehensive product portfolio ranges from complex measurement and analysis technology via innovative heating technology solutions to explosion-proof components and systems for automation, control and communication. BARTEC products have proved themselves in numerous projects right around the globe.
